

Northlands Storytelling Network is a community of storytellers and story listeners in the upper Midwest.

The first Northlands Storytelling Network Conference was held in 1983 in Mineral Point, Wisconsin. Story enthusiasts have been sharing their love for this art form ever since.

The Annual Conference is currently held at the Green Lake Conference Center in Green Lake, Wisconsin.

If you share our love of stories we hope you'll join us in ...

Who We Are

Northlands Storytelling Network is a charitable and educational organization dedicated to encouraging and expanding storytelling in ways that allow all people to understand and share the benefits of this art.

“The Northlands Conference is a highlight weekend for me.”

—conference attendee

What We Do

- Annual Conference - always the 4th full weekend in April
- Publish the Northlands Journal & Membership Directory
- Provide support to new or one-time storytelling events
- Provide networking in the storytelling community

“As a first time attendee and new to storytelling, I appreciate the easy environment and use of participation, and availability of assistance.”

—conference attendee

When You Join

you'll receive...

- Opportunities to network with others who love storytelling
- Discounts on Northlands events
- Opportunity to publish in the Northlands Journal
- Listing in the Northlands Membership Directory, both in print and on the Northlands' website.
- Connections in the world of storytelling

Membership is open to everyone.

“It is in the nature of the conference to grow in relationships, and appreciation of the many aspects and facets of storytelling. It's been a wonderful, inspiring, educational, entertaining, and nurturing weekend.”
